It Might Have Been Worse
If there's a person in Upland that is unable to appreciate the past year they are certainly to be pitied. With over seven million dollars in citrus fruit sold and with over a quarter million dollars in building here during the past twelve months, and with no particular setback from weather conditions—that's an ideal year. Of course Jack Frost tried to hit us, but we were there with the orchard heaters and came through with the best fruit year in our history.

As a result, building activity took a new lease on life and today Upland's business district, residence district and industrial district have all advanced.

Tonight the old year passes out and we start out tomorrow on the New Year, and if the New Year is as successful as this one and Jupiter Pluvius gives us a little more dampness, everyone will be satisfied.

The Same to You

He who gives birth to this column desires to wish for all the patient and long-suffering readers A Happy New Year. There is no doubt but that you have suffered, but not nearly as much as I have. Through it all I have clung tenaciously to the idea that this column must live, whether I was staying out late nights, working twenty-four hours a day, following a diet, threatened by disgruntled readers, quarrelling with my wife, fighting my neighbors, playing golf or other unimportant factors that enter into the life of a man who throws away the energies of a human being in operating a country newspaper.

But through it all comes the joy of being hated by some folks, loved by a few, cursed by many, admired by one or two, and least, but far from last—to have accomplished what others said never could be done, and accomplished it in spite of hell and high water, for 'twas't so long ago that those who claimed to know said that a twice-a-week newspaper never could live in a town the size of this.

There have been times when it is admitted that the "patient" barely breathed, but with the years she has grown stronger in spite of the fact that some seasons have seen her almost fall by the wayside. For six years has the work gone on in bringing up the child until today The News as a twice-a-week publication has become an established institution.

Therefore we start out on the new year with that old-time yet beloved expression, "Happy New Year to You."

"ANTIQUES" BUYER PICKS UP NEW ONE

According to a story which is floating about the city, P. O. Long, pioneer barber of the city, has developed into a professional collector of antiques, his latest acquisition being an old-time English pipe.

An old man happened into his shop the other day and after showing Perry the pipe, announced that as he needed the money badly he would be glad to sell the pipe for $17. Mr. Long looked the pipe over carefully and as it had all the ear marks of an old-timer he purchased it for $2.00.

Several friends happened in to the shop while Mr. Long was telling about the pipe and one of the friends happened to be of an inquisitive turn of mind and in examining it discovered a modern price tag carrying the figures "75c."

Long's friends say this is a true story.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Taylor and daughter, Miss Helen Taylor, motored to Glendora on Christmas, and spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wymann. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Taylor spent the day with Los Angeles friends.

XMAS VACATION IS OVER, SCHOOL TO RESUME MONDAY

PUPILS AND TEACHERS ENJOY RECREATION

Upland Grammar Schools, Chaffey Union High School, Junior College and Colony School to Oper. Monday

Studies will be resumed in all the buildings in the Upland Grammar Schools on Monday, January 4, according to announcement today by Miss Fannie Noe, principal.

The holidays have been enjoyed by every one, teachers and pupils alike, many of whom have spent them away from Upland.

Chaffey Union High School and Junior College also opens its doors again on Monday to throngs of eager students. It has been noticed by many educators that boys and girls rather enjoy returning to school after the winter holidays, but that the long summer vacation spoils them for school work, and it takes some time to settle down.

The Colony School on East Ninth street, of which Miss Frances A. Barr is principal, will open again on Monday morning at the usual time.

JESSUP GROCERY AND BUILDING ARE SOLD TO-DAY

"GOLDEN RULE" WILL BE NEW NAME

A. J. Ledy and R. A. Franklin Are New Owners, and Will Take Possession Saturday, January Second

A deal was closed today by which S. M. Jessup and Hubert Jessup, of Jessup's Grocery, have sold to H. J. Ledy and R. A. Franklin the building and grocery business at 264 Second Avenue. R. A. Franklin was connected with the grocery business several years ago, having been employed in both the Morris and Colborn groceries, which will be remembered by old-time residents of the city.

H. J. Ledy, well-known resident of Upland, is having his first experience in the business, but believes thoroughly in the future of the city and the firm will make an energetic team.

Messrs. Jessup have not announced their future plans, but for the time will conduct their ranching interests on West Tenth Street.

W. R. C. PRESIDENT HERE ON TUESDAY

Mrs. Sarah Alford, president of the Ontario-Upland branch of the Woman's Relief Corps, who has recently moved to Santa Ana to make her home, will be present to take charge of the regular meeting of the organization on Tuesday next. This is her final appearance as head official, the new president, Mrs. Hattie Gilbert of Ontario, being installed with the other new officers at the next regular meeting, following that of January 4th.

Business will commence sharp at one, and those members planning to attend are asked to be strictly on time.

INCUBATOR BABY GAINING WEIGHT

Many inquiries are received at the San Antonio Community Hospital as to the progress that the tiny baby girl, who only weighed two pounds at birth, is making, and The News is glad to publish the report that she now weighs three pounds one-half ounce, and is developing very satisfactorily.

The baby, who is kept in an incubator and fed at regular intervals from a medicine dropper, is a general favorite not only with the nurses but with all the patients as well, everyone taking a great interest in this tiny atom of humanity, who is holding her own so well.

NEW BUILDING TO HOUSE DAVIS CAFE AT 155 2ND AVE.

CAFE AND BANQUET ROOM ATTRACTIVE FEATURES

Building to Be of Re-enforced Concrete With Stucco Front and Tile Coping. Structure to 22x140 Feet in Size

Harry Davis announced this morning the erection of a new cafe building where the frame building now occupied by the Niswander grocery, at 155 Second Avenue, stands.

Several months ago Mr. Davis purchased the site and building with his present plans in view, but has just completed all the details with W. C. Jones, who is not only the builder, but the architect as well.

The building is to be of reinforced concrete, the front to be stuccoed with tile coping, hardwood floors throughout the entire building.

The building will be 22x140 feet with a basement 22x68 feet. The restaurant will be 22x60 feet, with a capacity of sixty places. One side will be devoted to the counter, while the other will be devoted to booths and tables. The extreme west end of the building will be a banquet room 22x50, with a capacity of 100 places. For many years Upland has lacked a banquet room and Mr. Davis plans on providing the city with its need in that line.

Between the restaurant and the banquet room is to be the kitchen, which will be 22x30, and Architect Jones has worked out a plan of ventilation which he believes will prove most effective in keeping the odor of cooking food from patrons of the cafe.

In the banquet room it is also planned by Mr. Davis to cater to dinner-dance parties. The hardwood floors will be polished and tables can be so placed that the center of the room can be used for dancing. The capacity for a dinner dance in the banquet room will be approximately fifty people. That the interior decorations will be most attractive is a foregone conclusion for Harry Davis has followed the cafe business for many years and is ably assisted by Mrs. Davis, who has many excellent ideas on interior arrangement.

The Niswander grocery is to move to its new building at the corner of Ninth Street and Campus Avenue just as soon as the building is ready for occupancy and as soon as the store building is empty Contractor Jones and his men will start the razing of one of Upland's history business buildings.

When the old frame building was erected present day folks can't recall, although a few old-timers seem to have a faint remembrance. For several years it was used as a drug store by the Johnson Drug Co., and later the business was sold to Smith Bros., then later became the property of P. H. MacQuillen, who moved the store into the building now occupied by Campbell's Ready-to-Wear Shop.

TO DISCONTINUE PRACTICE TEACHING NEXT YEAR

An unofficial announcement from the office of Dean W. E. Nichol of Pomona College today put an end to the rumor that has been circulating to the effect that there will be no more practice teaching after this semester and that those taking the work would not receive their certificates. According to the announcement, which may be regarded as accurate, there may be no practice teaching in elementary schools in the fall semester next year, but the work will continue for the remainder of the present school year.

SPEED ON CURVE RESULTS IN R. M. FOLLOWS DEATH

Because he attempted to drive his large touring car at a terrific rate of speed on a turn in the Redlands-Beaumont highway three miles from Redlands, a man believed to be Ralph M. Follows, owner of Camp Follows near Camp Baldy and operator of the San Gabriel Canyon stage line, is dead at the F. Arthur Corner Funeral Parlor in Redlands.

The motorist died at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, when he was lifted from the road to the ambulance which had been summoned by passing motorists immediately after the accident. The victim was alone when his car overturned on the curve one mile southeast of the Redlands water works.

FIRST UNIT TO START SOON IN UPLAND CITRUS

NEW BUILDING TO HOUSE EQUIPMENT

"Foremost Packing Plant of South" Is Opinion of Fruit Men Familiar With Fruit Houses of State

Within the coming month the first unit of the new Upland Citrus Association packing plant will be in operation. And thus will another chapter in the history of the foremost association here have been written, for the Upland is the pioneer association of growers, and throughout its history has lead in all that is modern and practicable in harvesting, packing and shipping citrus fruit.

The new house, a view of which appears herewith, is all that modern ideas can incorporate under one roof, for efficiency in handling oranges. This is the statement of fruit men who have traveled far and near investigating the details of the citrus business.

The house itself is the result of years of study of not only Architect Ache, but of Messrs. George Laidlaw, President; W. F. Nagel, Vice-President; W. B. Cavers, George H. Clark and W. H. Tipton, who are the officers and board of directors of the Upland Citrus, as well as P. H. Norton, who served as manager of the Upland Citrus for seven years. Mr. Norton resigned December 1st to become sales manager for the Schen Orchard and Heater Company of Upland.

The house was erected by the Campbell Construction Company, which erected the new West Ontario Citrus Association house last year, and also built the "House That Mac Built" or in other words the home of Mac the Medicine Man. Others who had a share in the erection of the packing house were: J. W. Heinicke Lumber Company; W. C. Cline, Concrete and Brick Builder; Roy Johnson, roofing, and Fox-Woodsum Lumber Co.

After twenty-eight years of successful operation, the erection of the new house became an absolute necessity and so the members of the association authorized the expenditure of $150,000. In June the razing of the old building went under way and within a few weeks the ground was cleared and the excavating for the basement was started.

Little did the men who formed the Upland Citrus Association twenty-eight years ago think that their step on the 28th of October, 1897, would result in there being built through the years to follow the foremost packing plant and successful co-operative organization in the citrus belts of California, but such has been the result.

Those who formed the first board association were: W. B. Stewart, Miss E. A. Stewart, H. D. Blakeslee, N. W. Hawkingson, H. Sutherland, Daniel Gihler, J. J. Chichester and Charles D. Adams. One of these men, Charles D. Adams, was an outstanding figure of the Upland Citrus for ten years and over that period he spent a vast amount of time and thought in behalf of the organization. Many members of today give Mr. Adams full credit for building the foundation of an organization which has served its members so well for twenty-eight years.

In its first year of operation the Upland shipped 16,430 boxes of fruit, or approximately forty cars, and in its twenty-eighth year the association shipped 700 carloads. Its greatest year was 1916-1917, when 1265 carloads were shipped. As can be seen from the accompanying picture the new house is of a Class A type. The house occupies a ground space of 220 feet along A Street, and 160 feet on Third Avenue. Loading tracks of the Pacific Electric and the Santa Fe parallel one another along the A Street side of the house, thus giving to the plant a much more advantageous loading plan than was in use at the old house.

The mechanical equipment is being installed by the Stebler-Parker Company of Riverside; George F. Black, San Bernardino, doing the electrical wiring and placing of all electrical devices.

The business offices of the new plant are a joy forever compared with those of the old house, and Manager W. J. Neilson and Accountant E. S. Polk, as well as the board of directors, have ideal quarters in which to transact the business of the association.

LEGION TO CARE FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

The American Legion has a department called "Sick Call and Relief." The object and purpose of this committee is to take care of all needy and worthy cases among the ex-service men and their families in general, and members of the American Legion in particular.

We request the various charitable organizations, churches, Red Cross, fraternal bodies, luncheon clubs and individuals to refer all requests solicited by ex-service men or their families, for assistance to Upland Post 73 of the American Legion and we will endeavor to investigate each case personally through our relief office, Comrade Earl Johnson, and furnish the relief necessary.

We make this request for the reason that we are more familiar with the case of the soldier than the average citizen, can locate by references to our State or National Department files any case where doubt might exist if there is question in our minds as to the merit of the case.

We are daily serving the less fortunate to obtain hospitalization when needed through the Veterans Bureau and we have assisted scores of boys in this manner.

Our finance officer gives free assistance to any ex-service man or his relatives, mother, wife or sister in obtaining whatever compensation is due him or her through disability and obtainable by methodical presentation of the case to the Veterans' Bureau. In order to carry on this relief work, which by the way is confidentially done and no report made by the relief officer in our public meetings as far as names or families are concerned, we require about $350 a year.

We feel this is our work and will carry it on cheerfully. We will make no drive for funds for our relief, but we believe it is just as important and necessary and proper as any other charitable work and from our personal view more so.

For the information of those who do not know, the United States government is very generous to all disabled ex-service men and provides splendidly now with hospitals for the sick and help for the totally or partially disabled. But there is a host of unfortunate who are deserving and out of luck, men from 23 to 30 years of age, who come to California in search of health, and California has far more than any other state proportionately, who need a little help. It is one of the objects of the Legion in the 1100 Posts scattered all over the country to give these men a helping hand.

Several Upland citizens have helped us from time to time and every dollar goes to relief work alone.

Donations to the relief work of the Legion can be made to the Commander or Comrade Harold C. Moore, finance officer, at the Commercial National Bank; Comrade Earl Johnson, relief officer, Mountain View Packing House, or Comrade Howard Mason, Post treasurer.

(Signed) John D. Howe, Commander Veeder South, Adjutant

DEFY FLOODS TO REPORT FOR SWITCHBOARD DUTY

When Marin County in California was swept by flood, sixty-four telephone operators rose to the emergency and braved the elements in the dead of night in order to reach their posts and render service, according to Manager Charles L. Tuttle of the Ontario and Upland Telephone Company. A general fire alarm was sounded at 3 o'clock in the morning and many of the young women, in their efforts to reach their posts, braved the icy waters without shoes or stockings. In some cases telephone men had to fight their way to operators who were stranded and carry them through torrents waist deep to automobiles that were waiting.

The telephone wires were taxed to their utmost while the flood lasted by frantic calls from besieged and from rescuers at Mill Valley, Sausalito, San Rafael and San Anselmo. Nearly two feet of water swirled around the exchange buildings at these places, while in Sebastopol six inches of water covered the floor of the exchange room, but all the operators remained on duty.

In one family of twelve children they all have names beginning with "L." The names are Lemora, Lydia, Lula, Laura, Lee, Lemuel, Lillian, Luther, Louis, Lucille, Lester and Lawrence.

ROAD OVERSEER HURT WHEN CAR STRIKES A TREE

SPEED OF CAR EVIDENT CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

In Turning Out for Truck and Trailer Driver Apparently Loses Control. Tree Is Cut off at Its Base

John Reed, county road boss for territory west and south of Ontario city, was seriously injured this morning when his car veered from the A Street highway between Ramona avenue and Monte Vista avenue, striking a tree by the roadside.

Just how the accident occurred no one appears to know. Mr. Reed was driving along the highway at a fast rate and turned his car slightly because of a truck and trailer which was parked off the highway. In turning he evidently lost control of his car, which was wrecked when it struck a tree, cutting the tree off at the base, and injuring Mr. Reed about the head.

He was taken to San Antonio Hospital, fearing a skull fracture, but examination showed that he suffered only serious scalp wounds.

DENT-AND WIFE ARE RELEASED

On writ of habeas corpus, J. C. Dent, Fontana rancher, and his wife, Katherine, who were arrested Dec. 16 on a telegraphic warrant from Kansas charging the obtaining of money under false pretense, were freed Tuesday by Superior Judge Charles L. Allison when Kansas officers failed to arrive with affidavits supporting the charges.

The writs were granted without protest from Chief Deputy District Attorney M. O. Hert, the Dents having been held more than six days on fugitive from justice complaints sworn to by Sheriff Walter A. Shay and Constable T. E. McDonald of Rialto, at the request of Kansas officials.

Officers in Sacramento. When the Dents were arrested, officers at Topeka and Parsons, Kans., wired they would leave immediately for Sacramento and ask that extradition be honored by Gov. Friend W. Richardson. It was later learned that Kansas officers were in Sacramento but, up until Tuesday, no further word was received in this city.

There are two charges in the Kansas courts against the Dents, one in Topeka and the second in Parsons, according to the word released by Sheriff Shay and on which the Dents were arrested. In court Tuesday the petitions for writs of habeas corpus filed by Lester G. King, counsel for the rancher and his wife, were immediately granted as the state lacked affidavits from Kansas supporting the charges that crimes had been committed.

Mrs. Joe Hadzima arrived today via Santa Fe California Limited from Passaic, N.J., where she was called a few months ago on account of the serious illness of her father.

FRANK TUSTE IS THROWN BENEATH WAGON WHEELS

ONE WHEEL PASSES OVER RIGHT HAND

Young Rancher Taken to San Antonio Community Hospital Where Injured Hand Is Dressed by Physician

Frank Tuste, aged 24 years, South Euclid avenue rancher, was severely injured at shortly before noon yesterday when he was jolted from the high seat of a wagon on which he was hauling dairy feed and fell beneath its wheels.

One of the wheels of the heavy wagon passed directly over the rancher's right hand, severely crushing the member. Tuste was taken to the San Antonio Community Hospital by Dr. Stephen A. Craig, where it was found that several bones in the hand were broken and dislocated.

The young rancher also suffered painful bruises and abrasions and will be incapacitated for work for some weeks, it is said.

SISTER OF JACK LONDON TO SPEAK

Mrs. Eliza London Shephard, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, and sister of the late Jack London, noted author, will address the Auxiliary members of the 11th district at a luncheon to be given in St. Anne's Inn, Santa Ana, Monday, Jan. 4th, at 1 o'clock.

Reservations will be made at one dollar per plate, and those wishing to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Harleigh C. Brown not later than Friday evening.

This is probably the only opportunity Mrs. Shephard will have of visiting this district, and all members of the Upland Auxiliary are urged to hear her. For this reason the regular meeting hour of the local branch has been changed from 2:30 until 7:30 on Monday. Installation of new officers will take place, and Miss Grace Weston, assistant chairman of hospital work in this district, will preside.

Those to be installed are Mrs. Harry Plum, president; Mrs. Thomas W. Nisbet, vice president; Mrs. Paul Adams, secretary; Mrs. F. K. Nichols, treasurer; executive board, Mrs. Harleigh Brown, Mrs. Maud Brogan, Mrs. O. E. Atwood, Mrs. Earl Marsh.

YEAR PROVES EXCEPTIONAL ONE HERE

Upland Citrus Ass'n Packing House, Mah Building, Allen Block, Davis Block Are High Lights in Building Activity

With a grand total of $253,110, Upland's building activity for the year came to a close today when Harry Davis took out a $9,500 permit for the erection of his new cafe building.

Exceeding a total of a quarter of a million, Upland's building during 1925 has been exceptional, exceeding the past few years.

Foremost buildings which brought the total to so high a figure are the Upland Citrus Association packing house, the Mah building, the W. E. Allen Transfer and Storage building and the new Davis block.

Throughout the year contractors and builders have been kept busy and it has proven one of the banner years in building.

Total by months as well as the grand total is as follows:
January$21,400.00
February 10,850.00
March 6,950.00
April 53,550.00

WHEEL DROPS OFF CAR IN TURNER AVENUE "JUMP"

BRAKE FLANGE GRIPS CAR TO HIGHWAY

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Coe Take Unusual Midnight Ride as Axle of Car Breaks. Wheel Found Near Roadway

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Coe and pet dog, of Inglewood, had the ride of their lives last night as they were spinning along the Foothill Boulevard in the Cucamonga section, about midnight.

Approaching Turner avenue at a lively clip, in the neighborhood of 35 miles, their faithful steed went into the Turner avenue dip in its usual excellent style, but when it came out, one rear wheel dropped off.

Strange as it may seem, the right side of the car dropped to the pavement and a flange on the brake casing cut into the road just enough to hold the car from tipping over. Good driving on the part of Mr. Coe also prevented a more serious accident.

"Bill" Waterman, of Waterman's Garage, was summoned to assist the stranded motorists and after using his flashlight found the missing wheel at the side of the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Coe spent the night at the Upland Hotel.

1,269,449 BOXES OF FRUIT SHIPPED

For the benefit of those who do not realize the enormous amount of citrus fruit that is shipped from Upland, figures have been compiled by J. F. Anderson, horticultural inspector for this district.

A total of 1,269,449 packed boxes of fruit were shipped for the year 1925, beginning January 1st and ending November 1st.

Mr. Anderson has made a list of each variety and the number of each shipped. Following is the complete list: Navels, 580,254; Valencia's, 84,056; miscellaneous, 21,831; grape fruit, 17,974; tangerines, 12,040; lemons, 553,294. This amount of fruit represents a money return of approximately $5,000,000.

Formula for Success

U. S. Attorney General John G. Sargent says: "If we are to get ahead, we should get something to do—and do it. Every boy and girl among the boys and girls I grew up with in the '60's had something to do. That was about the first principle of their upbringing."

"A boy had his farm chores to do. They were his duties. It didn't become a matter of punishment, and the boys didn't have to be nagged all the time and told to do this and that. To do his work became a part of his nature."

"Back there our work didn't seem irksome, because we grew up with it. Anybody who does things easily and naturally, does them that way because he started in early with them."

"I suppose, too, that it was because we were bred to respect our work instead of to hate it that there wasn't the craving for amusements that there is now. It comes back to me that the finest amusement of my boyhood was to lie on the floor and read 'The Youth's Companion,' and we'd listen to father reading aloud from Greeley's New York Tribune and from the Boston Journal—they were reflective men—my father and his neighbors. They did a great deal of reflecting and we boys had the benefit of it."

"I haven't any other formula for success than to work. Personally, I just do each day's work the very best that I know how, all the time studying how I can do the next one a bit better still. I have never done anything except to keep right along at work. The work I did became a little more important year by year, I suppose. Which, I've noticed, is the way with work that is honestly performed."

A correspondent comments: "More of this kind of talk would not hurt the people of this country just now. Certainly our growing army of the Meddlesome would do well to give it heed. If they would only go to work and mind their own business we should all be better off and they would be happier themselves."

Football on Trial

(Pomona Progress)

The risk of professionalization in football is not in the playing, or the players. Even if a Red Grange turns professional afterward, it does not particularly corrupt the game. The real risk is in the coaches, and in the commercialization of the game as a spectacle.

Intercollegiate games have become, to an alarming extent, a battle of the professional coaches, each working for his job and his professional prestige. And they have become great business ventures, whose profits support the more legitimately collegiate athletics.

A winning game is a professional triumph for the coach, which increases his cash value. And complaints come from the general non-collegiate public if preference is given in tickets to collegians.

If it is a public circus, they are right. The rule should be "first come, first served." But if it is a collegiate event, with college spirit as its chief motive, the collegians should be preferred spectators.

A committee representing several eastern colleges has suggested that no coach be paid more than a professor, and that the coach be not permitted to sit on the bench, where he can direct the game. His function should be the preliminary training, but the actual game should test the captain's rather than the coach's directing capacity.

And, if the coach could aspire to no higher salary than a professor, coaches would be recent graduates, serving short terms, and thus only semi-professional. So drastic a reform is unlikely soon. But the proposal of the remedy suggests the diagnosis of the evil. If your doctor gives you quinine, it means that he thinks you have malaria.

To My Mother

Edgar Allan Poe

Because I feel that, in the heavens above,

The angels, whispering to one another,

Can find, among their burning terms of love,

None so devotional as that of "Mother,"

Therefore by that dear name I long have called you—

You who are more than mother unto me,

And fill my heart of hearts, where death in-stalled you

In setting my Virginia's spirit free.

My mother—my own mother, who died early,

Was but the mother of myself; but you

Are mother to the one I loved so dearly,

And thus are dearer than the mother I knew

By that infinity with which my wife

Was dearer to my soul than its soul-life.

The "Herding" Instinct

(Pomona Bulletin)

Is the world becoming afraid of solitude in its mad rush for society and companionship? The social columns of the newspapers and Sunday supplements are rapidly growing in size. Public dance halls, which are more in number and larger in size, are nightly filled to capacity. The theatre prospers. Everywhere one hears of parties, teas, dinners, balls and smokers. The social life of church and school extends over the entire week. The public eating places with their many people, bright lights and music are attracting the nation away from the family dining table.

Many will welcome the trend away from human solitude but not so Schopenhauer, the "divine pessimist," who wrote:

"A chief lesson of youth should be to learn to enjoy solitude—a source of peace and happiness. In my years of youth I was delighted when the doorbell rang, for I thought, now it (the great romantic adventure) had come. But in later years my feeling on the same occasion had something rather akin to terror—I thought, there it comes!"

There have been others who have found solitude preferable to society. Thoreau said: "I love to be alone. I never found the companion that was so companionable as solitude," and Lowell compromised, "Solitude is as needful to the imagination as society is wholesome for the character."

Many will agree with all three of these past masters in philosophy and literature that solitude and society are both to be cultivated, that those who fear solitude have failed in life as utterly as those who have not enjoyed the pleasures of human society. It is possible to overdo either, but there is little evidence or danger of the present generation over-cultivating solitude.

One thing to be learned about airplanes is how to make them as deadly to an enemy as to ourselves.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Santa Claus Is Real

One of the things that deserves to be re-printed every year is Charles A. Dana's reply to a little girl who wrote to ask him if there really is a Santa Claus, printed in the New York Sun in 1897:

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove?

Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay ten thousand times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

It remains to be seen whether Young Bob LaFollette is a chip off the old farm bloc.—Cleveland Times.

Rapid Growth in Short Time

(Colton Courier)

Those of us who have been in California for the past fifteen years and have had occasion to visit Los Angeles recently cannot help but compare the hustling big country town of 300,000 inhabitants in 1910 with the metropolitan center of big industries of today when its people are estimated at nearly two million.

No one could have imagined that the growth would have been phenomenal, and it is not until the pushing, shoving crowds on the sidewalks, in the stores, and the congested highways bring to mind the vast difference in just a few years that real thought is given to the changed conditions.

It is said that there are six thousand manufacturing plants in Los Angeles at the present time. Would it be too much to say that that number will be increased to double in five years. In those five thousand manufacturing plants there are 200,000 workers—almost as many as the population of Los Angeles fifteen years ago.

And it is not alone in Los Angeles that this rapid transformation is taking place. It may be seen in any town or city of the state, if comparison could be made. California right now is second only to the state of New York in point of property value with its valuation of over thirteen billions dollars. Ohio stands next in line with a little over ten billion.

No one can foresee the great future that is in store for California. Anyone could stand anywhere in the state and buy land or property and make no mistake. People are coming here by the thousand every few months, and as they come property values naturally increase from the additional improvements. In only a few years much of the vacant acreage will be improved and the long stretches between towns will be improved with good homes and productive small farms.

With the Poets

THE BELLS

Hear the sledges with the bells—
Silver bells!
What a world of merriment their melody foretells!
How they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle,
In the icy air of night!
While the stars that oversprinkle
All the heavens, seem to twinkle
With a crystalline delight;
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the tintinnabulation that so musically wells
From the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells—
From the jingling and the tinkle-ing of the bells.

Hear the mellow wedding bells,
Golden bells!
What a world of happiness their harmonies foretells!
Through the balmy air of night
How they ring out their delight!
From the molten-golden notes,
And all in tune,
What a liquid ditty floats
To the turtle-dove that listens,
while she glows
On the moon!
Oh, from out the sounding cells,
What a gush of euphony volumi-nously wells!
How it swells!
How it swells!
On the future! how it tells
Of the rapture that impels
To the swinging and the ringing
Of the bells, bells, bells,
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Of the bells, bells, bells—
To the rhyming and the chiming
of the bells.

Hear the loud alarum bells—
Brazen bells!
What a tale of terror, now, their turbulency tells!
In the startled ear of night
How they scream out their affright!
Too much horrified to speak,
They can only shriek, shriek,
Out of tune,
In a clamorous appealing to the
mercy of the fire,
In a mad exhortation with the deaf and frantic rife
Leaping higher, higher, higher,
With a desperate desire,
And a resolute endeavor
Now—now to sit or never,
By the side of the pale-faced moon.
Oh, the bells, bells, bells!
What a tale their terror tells
Of despair!
How they clang, and clash, and roar!
What a horror they outpour
On the bosom of the palpitating air!
Yet the ear it fully knows,
By the twanging,
And the clanging,
How the danger ebbs and
flows;
Yet the ear distinctly tells,
In the jangling,
And the wrangling,
How the danger sinks and swells
By the sinking or the swelling in the anger of the bells—
Of the bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells,
In the clamor and the clangor
of the bells!

Hear the tolling of the bells—
Iron bells!
What a world of solemn thought their monody compels!
In the silence of the night,
How we shiver with affright
At the melancholy menace of their threat!
For every sound that floats
From the rust within their throats
Is a groan,
And the people—ah, the people—
They that dwell up in the
steeples,
All alone,
And who tolling, tolling, toll-
ing,
In that muffled monotone,
Feel a glory in their rolling
On the human heart a stone,
They are neither brute nor human;
They are ghouls:
And their king is he who tolls;
And he rolls, rolls, rolls,
And he rolls, rolls, rolls,
Rolls—
A paean from the bells!
And his merry bosom swells
With the paean of the bells!
And he dances, and he yells;
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the paean of the bells—
Of the bells:
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the throbbing of the bells:
Of the bells, bells, bells—
To the sobbing of the bells;
Keeping time, time, time,
As he knells, knells, knells,
In a happy Runic rhyme,
To the rolling of the bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells,
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells—
Bells, bells, bells—
To the moaning and the groaning
of the bells.

RING OUT, WILD BELLS

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild
sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty
light:
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him
die.
Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow:
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true
Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For that here we see we see no
more:
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.
Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party
strife:
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws.
Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier
hand:
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.
—Alfred Tennyson

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Norton on Tuesday evening, members of the U and I Bridge Club were delightfully entertained at the Norton home on Euclid Avenue.

Baskets of poinsettias were used in decoration, and Christmas, colors carried out in effective display. Bridge held the guests' attention for the greater part of the evening and much amusement was had over the scores of the evening. This club is having a friendly contest between the men and women players, and up-to-date the women are in the lead.

After the auction game, Santa Claus appeared with gifts for everyone, and unwrapping the packages added to the gaiety of the evening.

Mrs. Norton served dainty refreshments to the members, who numbered Mr. and Mrs. William Atchley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Cavers, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Mathews, Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Mengle.

MERRY PARTIES AT THE SYCAMORES—

The Sycamores will be the scene tonight of a dinner dance for which two hundred reservations have been made. At midnight the new year will be ushered in with revelry and joyous greeting.

On Tuesday night the Cotillion Club enjoyed the second dancing party of the season, at which 30 couples were present. The party marked the initial event of the club under the direction of Walter V. Combs, incoming president, and was a perfect success.

CANYON POWER HOUSE PEOPLE FORM CLUB—

A club has recently been organized by those who are employed at the Power Houses No. 1 and 2 and the toll gate keepers in San Antonio Canyon, and the initial social gathering took the form of a Christmas dinner last Sunday, given at Power House No. 1.

Dinner was served at six o'clock, covers being placed for nineteen members. Three small Christmas trees trimmed with snow sparkles were used to decorate the long table, with mountain holly and greenery. Following the dinner, the guests spent the evening in dancing.

Tonight, in celebration of the New Year, the club members have planned a Watch Party, which promises to be a gay affair.

KITCHEL-WILCOX WEDDING—

A quiet home wedding was celebrated the afternoon of Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilcox, San Antonio Avenue, Ontario, when their daughter, Joy, became the bride of Earl Kitchel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kitchel, West Eleventh Street, Upland.

The bride, who was unattended, was married in her going-away costume of royal blue velvet, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles A. Kent, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Upland. Only immediate relatives of both sides were present.

Following the wedding the bride and groom left for a honeymoon, which will be spent in the Yosemite. On their return they will make their home in Los Angeles, where Mr. Kitchel is associated with the Foster-Kleiser Advertising Company.

Both young people are well-known here. They were classmates and graduates of Chaffey, and both graduated from Pomona College. Tiny Christmas trees in earthenware pots were at each guest's place on the tables, and as they progressed favors were hung on the trees which already glittered with sparkling icicles, making an attractive picture when the players moved from table to table carrying the tiny trees.

SAY JAPANESE VIOLATING LAW

Acting on the complaint of ranchers, the San Bernardino County grand jury Tuesday began an inquiry of asserted violations by Japanese of the Alien Land Act in the Cucamonga district, calling a number of witnesses including one suspected law violator.

That the Japanese are acquiring agricultural lands in the Cucamonga district by purchasing the acreage for minors, born in California, through guardians who in turn lease the property to farmers ineligible to hold land, was the theme of the testimony before the inquirers at the inquiry. It was learned whether indictments were asked could not be ascertained. Foreman C. M. Brown of Redlands issuing no statement. Other grand jurors flatly refused to discuss the inquiry.

Guardians are Accused

The guardians of the Japanese minors, many of whom hold land although they are yet mere school children, have violated the Alien Land Act by failing to file annual reports in County Clerk Harry L. Allison's office, the grand jurors were told. The law requires that a detailed report of the guardianship be filed annually, setting forth what the land held by aliens was used for during the year, the profits returned and other information required by the government.

The complainants before the inquirers included ranchers who protested the asserted violation of the act, adopted to protect American farmers from Oriental competition and to restrict the acquiring by Japanese of vast acreages of agricultural lands. Frequent complaints that the act was being ignored by Japanese have been received in District Attorney George H. Johnson's office in recent weeks.

ONTARIO NEWS

Woman Denies Guilt

Mrs. Elsie N. Coleman, 153 Surf Street, Santa Monica, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor when she was arraigned yesterday before Judge George R. Holbrook. In lieu of $300 bail, she was returned to the county jail. The date for the woman's trial has not yet been fixed.

Mrs. Coleman's arrest followed a motor accident on East A Street on the night of the 23rd inst., which resulted in her husband, Godfrey Coleman, being held to face a charge of driving while intoxicated or manslaughter, depending on the recovery or death of Leslie D. Stephens, 1227 East A Street, who sustained a compound fracture of the skull when his automobile is asserted to have been struck by the Coleman machine, and who is still in a critical condition at the San Antonio Community Hospital.

Following the crash, Mrs. Coleman was said to have taken a bottle of liquor from the car and to have attempted to conceal it in her handbag. In court she denied that the liquor belonged to her or that she ever used it. She admitted that she might have taken it to get it away from her husband, but declared that the first thing she remembered following the accident was when she found herself on the operating table in the hospital. Mrs. Coleman sustained severe lacerations about the head and her husband suffered a broken arm.

Mrs. Coleman today gave her age as 53 years and her occupation as a real estate saleswoman.

Held on Check Charge

In default of $2000 bail fixed by Judge George R. Holbrook at his arraignment yesterday, J. F. Holcomb, age 29 years, of Riverside, was being held in jail to await preliminary examination on a charge of issuing a fictitious check.

Thomas P. Logan of the Drew Carriage Company, 215 North Euclid Avenue, on which concern Holcomb is alleged to have passed a worthless check for $10, is the complaining witness in the case. The record of the Riverside is being investigated by the officers and it is said that he has been guilty of similar operations elsewhere.

The date for Holcomb's preliminary examination was set by Judge Holbrook for Jan. 6.

Building Hotel Boosted

Building totals for December and for the year were given a goodly boost yesterday when City Building Inspector O. S. Roen issued permits representing an expenditure of $10,850. This makes the December total with one day yet to go $50,972.50, and that for the year $878,167.50. The three principal permits went to J. W. Moore, well-known building contractor, who is to erect 5-room hollow tile dwellings in Holmes Avenue, Elma Street and East F Street, at costs of $3750, $3000 and $4000, respectively. J. S. Boshart was issued a permit to put up a frame garage at 816 East Emporia Avenue at a cost of $100.

Realty Board Banquet

"If we are going to be realtors, let's be good realtors," declared Peter Hanson, chairman of the appeals committee of the California Real Estate Association, in an address before members of the Ontario Realty Board in annual banquet session Tuesday night at Hotel Casa Blanca.

In his talk, Mr. Hanson asserted that the future of California lies in the hands of the real estate men, whom he urged to extend their efforts to bring more people here and to do all in their power to continue the state's program of development and progress.

Declaring the realtor to be the home maker, Mr. Hanson took the position that there is no calling which can contribute more to the sum of human happiness than the real estate business. He declared the secret of community building to lie in cooperation.

Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the State Association, spoke briefly of the growth of that organization; its legislative accomplishments, the qualifications required of the realtor, real estate classes and of the generosity of the newspapers of the state in devoting space to realty news.

Gil A. Cowan, associate editor of the California Real Estate Association magazine, told of the state's crop products for the year just closing and touched upon the fact that 85 per cent of the motion picture films produced in the United States are made in Southern California. In closing, the speaker called attention to the need of an official crop reporter for San Bernardino County, which he declared to be one of the richest counties in the state, but added that at present no one knows how much it produces in a year.

H. P. D. Kingsbury, vice-president of the fourteenth district of the State Association and Redlands realtor, installed the new officers for the year: Wm. Plasman, president; Ross P. Garbutt, vice-president, and J. W. Scott, secretary-treasurer.

W. C. T. U. TO HOLD SERVICE THURSDAY

Members of the Upland and Ontario Chapter of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold an all-day prayer service in the Church of the Nazarene, Third Avenue and Ninth Street, Thursday, January 7th, beginning at 10 o'clock. There will be a speaker in the afternoon, and a large number of members are planning to attend.

Congress is to be asked to pass legislation at the present session extending the time limit for five years for the conversion of war-time term insurance policies held by veterans of the World War, according to word received here by State Adjutant James K. Fisk of the American Legion. Under the terms of the legislation, disabled veterans of the World War will be permitted to reinstate their policies by placing the unpaid back premiums as a charge against the policy in the final settlement thereof.

Other legislation, according to Adjutant Fisk, will provide further relief for tubercular veterans, including a permanent rating of fifty per centum disabled for "arrested" cases.

Infantry officers bore more than three-fourths of the commissioned battle deaths in the World War, according to figures obtained from the War Department by Legion officials here.

BANKERS GO AFTER MONEY, NOT MAN

Bankers of Riverside were far more interested in recovering their losses than prosecuting Glen Ferguson, accused forger arrested by Sheriff Walter A. Shay last week. Sheriff Shay and his officers were warned by Riverside officers to arrest Ferguson, who had obtained nearly $200 by swindling the First National and Security Savings & Trust banks in that city. Sheriff Shay captured Ferguson when he attempted to cash a forged draft at the California State Bank.

Riverside Men Get Money
The sheriff immediately notified the Riverside officers of Ferguson's arrest and within an hour Riverside police and representatives of the two banks at which Ferguson cashed his fictitious drafts were at Sheriff Shay's office. The bankers had obtained attachments against Ferguson's money—he had $240 in his pockets when arrested—and immediately attached $205.08. The cash, at Ferguson's consent, was delivered to the Riverside bankers.

Ferguson had committed no crime in San Bernardino and Riverside officers asked that he be held for prosecution in that county on forgery charges. Ferguson was held three days in jail and there was no further request for his custody from the Riverside police.

Man Held For Pomona
Sheriff Shay then asked the Riverside police if they wanted Ferguson for prosecution on the forgeries at the Riverside banks.

The bankers would not swear to a complaint against Ferguson, the police said, and Ferguson was delivered to Los Angeles County officers. Bankers in Los Angeles County did not recover their losses.

TIMES ANNUAL IN SEVEN SECTIONS

Again the Los Angeles Times has performed its annual service to Southern California in the publication of a Midwinter number more colorful and graphic in its pictorial representation of the Southwest than ever before.

The seven sections of this year's Midwinter differ from those of previous years in several marked respects: There are two beautifully printed rotogravure picture sections, the one depicting the delights of the out-of-doors, and the other conducting the reader on a remarkable tour of industrial plants in which Southern California manufactures by most modern methods practically every commodity that human beings use. The Great Southwest section classifies geographically every town and city over 500 inhabitants in Southern California with write-ups, maps and reference tables.

HOOVER, THE HANDY MAN OF THE CABINET ORCHESTRA
President Coolidge has expressed himself in favor of an Air Bureau under Herbert Hoover. If his plans go through one more task will be dumped on the desk of the Secretary of Commerce. Thus far this "Efficiency Expert" has been able to play well on every odd instrument thrust his way—and adds greatly to the harmony of the Cabinet Orchestra.

PUEBLO INDIANS APPEAL TO CONGRESS
Indians of the Pueblo of New Mexico are voicing an appeal to prevent Congress from passing laws which will favor the white man in securing Indian land which belongs to them. These Indians are the highest officers in the Pueblo tribe which is composed of 700 full blooded Indians. They are traveling in the interest of the Indian rights.

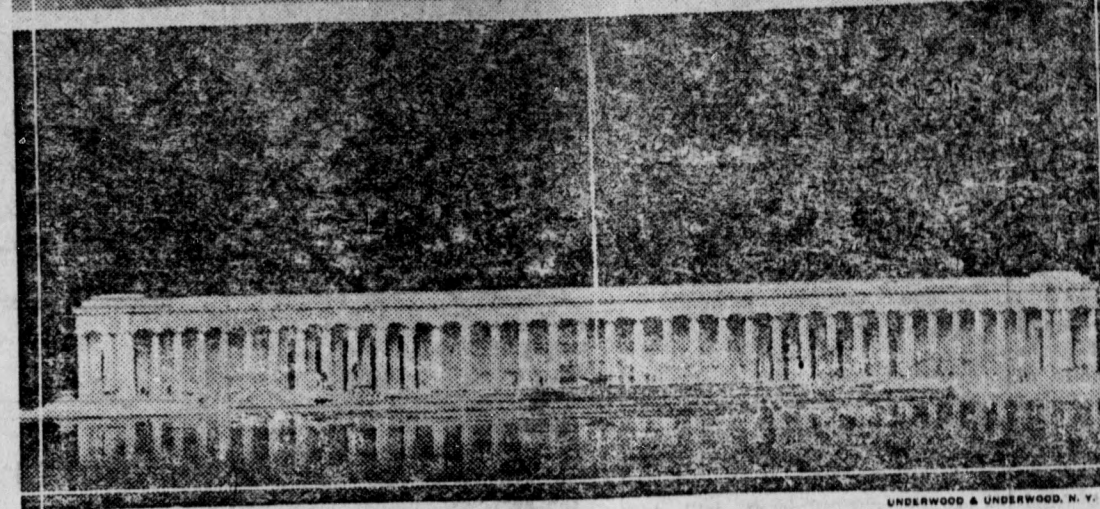

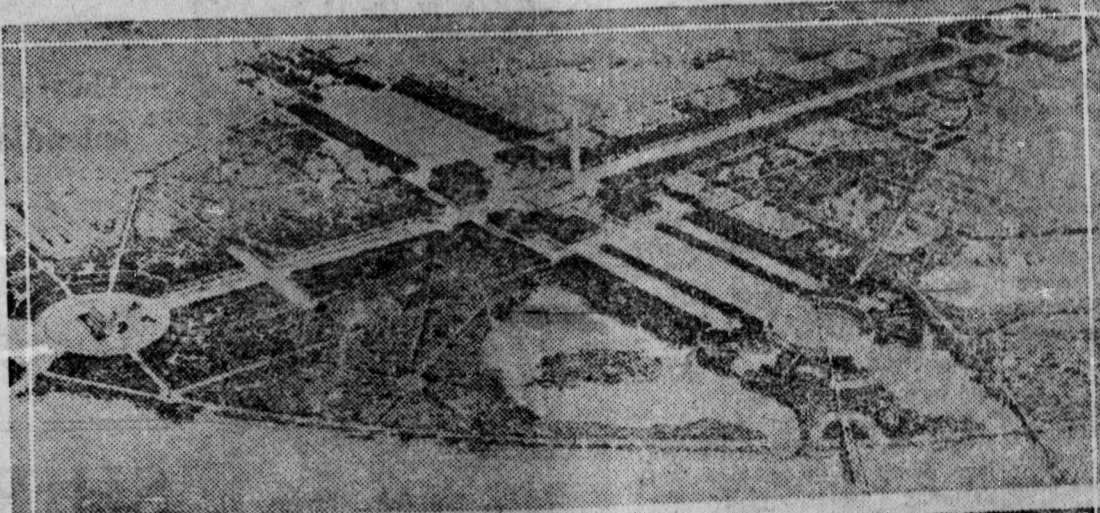

AUTOS WRECKED SALVAGING BOOTLEG LIQUOR
Several rum runners were wrecked off the coast of Florida during a recent severe storm. One, a two-masted schooner, went down with the loss of six lives off Fox Cove, near Daytona Beach. Nineteen thousand cases of rum floated on the water and slowly drifted to shore. There was a mad scramble to salvage the liquor and a number of autoists ventured too far on the treacherous sands of the beach. Several cars were wrecked and others sank so far that wrecking crews had to be called. The photo shows two of the damaged cars on Daytona Beach.

SENATE AND HOUSE CHIEFS POSE WITH PAGES

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL PLAN SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS
The proposed Roosevelt Memorial designed by John Russell Pope, of New York, which was recently submitted to Congress by the Roosevelt Memorial Association. The plan, as stated by James R. Garfield, President of the Association, declares that "at the center of an island of white granite, set in a circular body of water, flanked by majestic colonnades, a living shaft of water rises with prodigious power 200 feet. From the base of the fountain symbolical ships carry the message of Roosevelt's life to the four points of the compass." The site, used by permission of the Congress as the basis for the competition in which Mr. Pope was selected as the designer for the national memorial to Theodore Roosevelt, is situated in what is now the Tidal Basin, or Twining Lake, on the line of Sixteenth street projected southward from the White House, Washington, D. C.

A FAMOUS SHIP THAT WILL SOON DESERT ITS USUAL HABITAT
The Coast Guard Cutter "Bear," whose Arctic adventures have made it one of the most famous ships afloat, as she lay at anchor in Los Angeles, Cal., harbor, having arrived recently to become the mother ship to a brood of rum chasers. After one more trip the Bear will become the training ship at the San Diego Naval Training Station. Lying at anchor in the semi-tropic waters of Los Angeles Harbor, is quite a change from the usual ice under her forefoot. Below: Mascots of the "Bear." "Paddy," in the center, has been with the famous ship for six years.

ORCHESTRA CONDUCTOR BECOMES TANGLED IN RED TAPE
Dr. Ernest Roemer, prominent orchestra conductor, of Germany, sails on S. S. George Washington with Mrs. Roemer. He arrived in America a few days ago to fulfill his contract with Shubert. He then discovered that because his contract had been signed abroad, the U. S. Labor Laws would prevent him from lifting his baton. Therefore he must return home, wait three months, return to America and sign a new contract.

NAVY TO PHOTOGRAPH ALASKA FROM THE AIR
The announcement has been made that beginning next spring the U. S. Navy will begin the most extensive and hazardous aerial survey ever attempted. Four planes, under command of Lieutenant B. H. Wyatt, manned by navy pilots, will map, by means of aerial photography, 40,000 square miles of totally unexplored land in southeast Alaska. Lieutenant Wyatt, now stationed at the San Diego (Cal.) the following day at the home of Miss King in Los Angeles.

Attractive Holiday Luncheon
One of the smart affairs among the younger set the past week was the four-course luncheon served at 12 o'clock with which Miss Eileen Lucas complimented her friend and house guest, Miss Frances King of Los Angeles, at her attractive home in Archibald Ave., Tuesday. The pretty holiday color motif was effectively expressed in a graceful centerpiece of red sweet peas with dainty cutouts and place cards in the same vivid shades marking covers for the guests of honor, Miss King and Misses Esther Jones, Rosella Hoppe, Eileen Skillman, of Ontario; Miss Elizabeth Ford of Pomona, and the hostess, Miss Lucas. Following the luncheon hour, dancing was enjoyed by the young guests until their hostess announced her plans for a matinee party at the California, all motoring to the theater for the remainder of the delightful afternoon.

Misses Eleanor and Mary Albert are anticipating a delightful visit with friends in Pasadena over the New Year's holiday, enjoying the Tournament of Roses and other entertainments, and returning home Saturday evening.

Joining in the happy celebration were the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Roth and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Roth, all of Ontario.

Miss Mildred Thorpe has been on the sick list the past week at her home, "Edgemont," Alta Loma.

Mrs. M. J. Reid and daughter, Miss Gertrude, are enjoying the luxury of a new Studebaker sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Belden and daughter, Miss Marian, accompanied by their week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sam Belden of Los Angeles, enjoyed a most delightful trip to Imperial Valley, leaving early Saturday and returning Sunday evening.

They were the guests of Mrs. Belden's brothers, Messrs. Joe and Loyal Stribley and their families, near Brawley.

Mrs. Walter Frank Keen and baby son, Howard Montague, left Wednesday evening for their home in Los Angeles, after a pleasant visit since Sunday at the home of Mrs. Keen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kincaid.

Harry A. Ledig is reported as severely ill this week at his home in North Hellman Ave.

Miss Eileen Lucas and her house guest, Miss Frances King of Los Angeles, motored to Pasadena on Wednesday, where they were the guests at a smart luncheon at the home of a former Ramona College friend, Miss Emily Studer.

Miss Lucas remained over until the following day at the home of Miss King in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham, one-time residents of Alta Loma, now of Pasadena, who were numbered among the Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kincaid, were calling while here on old friends and former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albert, Sr., of Olive St.

Mrs. W. C. Belden, Miss Marian Belden, Mrs. W. E. Morse, Mrs. H. H. Thomas and Mrs. C. B. Motinger, made up a genial little party dining at The Sycamores on Monday evening, where the Cucamonga Service Club was in session.

J. H. Gregg is making extensive improvements to the home place he purchased last spring, the former McLelland ranch, corner 19th Street and Hellman Ave.

Cucamonga Service Club "Americanization," the popular theme of the day, was the gem of thought, that sparkled throughout a most interesting talk given by Deputy District Attorney Maloney of San Bernardino, before the Cucamonga Service Club at their weekly dinner and meeting Monday evening last at The Sycamores. Punctuated by Irish witticisms, the speaker nevertheless drove home the serious situation America is facing today, the great increase in crime and the causes thereof, declaring it was up to all Americans to be real Americans, not for only part of the time, but for all of the time. Mr. Maloney's speech, carrying a real punch, was well received.

George T. Morris, presiding during the business routine, called for committee reports, which showed that eleven different families in the community had, through the Service Club, received baskets of groceries, flowers and toys for the children at Christmas time. One new member, that of I. T. Jamieson, was added to the roll call of club.

Responsible for the entertainment features of the evening was a committee of two, Messrs. Fred Owings and Harry Wright, who introduced, by arrangement, the big hit of the evening, the Thompson String Orchestra of Ontario, with L. A. Ball at the piano; Will Elliott, violin; Frank Bennett, guitar, and Mr. Thompson, banjo, who were certainly "all there" with inspiring oldtime dance music, which so aroused the enthusiasm of such dignified members as H. H. Thomas, W. E. Morse, Hugh Larson and John Kinsman, that partners conventionally at hand were formed for one of those good old-fashioned quadrilles and a "good time was had by all."

Twenty-nine members enjoyed the fine dinner provided by mine host John Klusman, and the splendid entertainment provided by the committee.

One of the social events booked for the near future is "Ladies' Night," which the Cucamonga Service Club will give jointly with the new Alta Loma Community Club on the night of Jan. 11th, with dinner, dancing and cards, at The Sycamores.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Craigville and family, Miss Mary Craigville and brother Robert and Little son, who have been spending the holiday week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitson of Archibald Avenue, left yesterday for San Francisco, on the first lap of their return journey to their home in Know, Indiana. Mr. Craigville, Sr., is the youngest brother of Mrs. Whitson, and a delightful family reunion was a pleasant feature of their visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Thomas were guests at a bountiful Christmas dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jones, on the H. H. Thomas ranch on State Highway. In the afternoon they motored down to Anaheim for a little holiday visit with Mrs. Thomas' aunts and families, Mr. and Mrs. James Lockie of Riceville, Ia., who are spending the winter here, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuller.

Mrs. H. H. Thomas and son, Webster, motored to Los Angeles for the day on Tuesday.

A delightful four-day holiday trip was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thomas and son, Webster, who motored down to San Diego the day before Christmas, returning home last Sunday evening.

FORMER RESIDENT IS VISITOR HERE TODAY
Carlton Joughin, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Joughin, former residents of Upland, now of Libby, Montana, was in Upland today visiting several friends. The family left Upland in 1918 when the young man of today was a small boy, and many friends failed to recognize him, but welcomed him cordially when they did. Mr. Joughin, Jr., is a student at Oregon Aggey, which several Upland boys are also attending, so was fairly well posted in local details, although he was astonished at the growth of the town in the past few years.
